

Directions to Curry Auditorium

Only those people with physical disabilities may park in Lot B, which is right outside Curry Auditorium. However, all other attendees must park in Lot C or Lot A. If those people with disabilities need to enter through Lot C, that entrance is also wheelchair accessible.

Lot A:

You can take either Holmes or Troost. If you are coming north on Holmes, drive past Lot B and take your immediate right on Curry Lane. It is a SMALL yellow street sign. Pass the emergency room entrance and turn right into the lot where there is a sign pointing in the direction of Curry Auditorium. You will be parking behind a building but NOT under a building. You will see on the side of the building a large yellow sign that says Curry Auditorium. Enter through those doors, go as far as you can down the hall and then veer left. You will see the display tables and at the end of the display tables you will see the registration tables on your left. The only difference if you are coming north on Troost, you will turn left by the medical office buildings and will take this small street (Curry Lane) and then follow the sign to Curry Auditorium. It sounds more complicated than it is.

Lot B:

Enter Lot B from Holmes Road.

Enter the building where the outside reads, "Curry Education Center."

Turn left and pass through the doors.

Quickly turn right and enter Curry Auditorium.

Lot C:

Enter Lot C from Holmes Road. Proceed to the Building C entrance.

Once in the building, walk straight ahead and take the elevators closest to the entrance down to the first floor.

Turn right and walk down the corridor. Follow signs to the Curry Auditorium.

Take a left and pass the health and fitness rooms.

Turn right just past the fitness rooms and walk through the double doors and then through another set of double doors.

Curry Auditorium is on the immediate right.
